Course description

What will you learn

Being a good leader starts with your ability to lead yourself. During this course, we enhance your leadership skills by aligning your values, talents and ambitions with your personal leadership style. Building on the insights of renowned leadership thinkers, you will expand your range of essential leadership skills and actively experiment with their effectiveness.

You'll also discover your own unique ability to inspire others by sharing your vision and connecting your employees' values and ambition to the goals of your business. The key is to effectively apply coaching methods in the form of coaching-based leadership. As a coach and a leader, you guide your team members and strengthen their commitment to your organization's strategy.

Program path

Some of the concepts covered in this course include understanding the difference between managing and leading, learning the fundamentals of effective people management and gaining the skills to serve as a coaching leader.

Furthermore we will focus on learning to motivate your employees on a group and individual basis and adapting your leadership skills to specific people and situations. In the training you will learn to align employees' values, talents and visions with those of the organization and how to develop the five functions of a team.

Training method

The Core program is a blended learning journey that forms the foundation for your skills. Relevant for professionals who are new to a skill and are ready for an in-depth learning experience. It is a 11-week program where you will receive ongoing support by a facilitator. During the 11 weeks you will get 1 day of group training, virtual peer coaching and online learning sessions.

Accreditation

Relevance Learning has been awarded as a gold accredited learning provider by LPI (Learning and Performance Institute). This badge is received for its commitment to high quality process improvement in the provision of learning, development and training services to clients.
